Fund Summary

OnePath Diversified Fixed Interest

OneAnswer Frontier Pension

31 May 2022

Market and portfolio review

The fund underperformed its benchmark by 0.38% for the quarter. The Ardea Diversified Bond Fund was a big contributor due to its focus on high quality alpha sources and its benchmark replication strategy.

The Ardea Global Alpha Fund was the main negative detractor as the micro curve and relative value trades subtracted. PGIM subtracted value due to duration positioning. Janus Henderson subtracted value due to duration positioning and credit sector positioning. The IOOF Income Trust subtracted value due to credit sector selection.

The quarter saw significant volatility as the market had to digest the first US rate hike since December 2018 and the commentary that followed, pointing to more aggressive rate hikes to come. Adding to this volatility was the Russian invasion of Ukraine which led to rising inflation expectations. Australian 10 year bonds ended the quarter 1.17% higher, to close at 2.84%, and US 10 year bond rose 0.58% to close the quarter at 2.34%.

Future investment strategy

The fund is maintaining a defensive position to both interest rates and credit. Whilst the fund overall is short duration, the fund has been taking the opportunity to reduce the short as yields have sold off. The fund has also been re-allocating away from short duration benchmark managers to long duration benchmark managers. The fund is also shifting to a more defensive stance on credit. Whilst the fundamentals and technicals for credit are strong, we feel with the economic outlook being uncertain, it is prudent to be more conservative on credit.
